In the Spotlight

Michael A. Rutledge joined the Justice Coalition's board of directors to represent Sheriff John Rutherford when he couldn't attend, but he has proven to be a valuable member in his own right. A 20-year veteran of the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office, Michael brings a wide variety of experience and interests to this organization.

He was born and raised in Jacksonville, attended Raines High School and graduated from UNF with a BA degree in Criminal Justice and from the University of Phoenix with an MA in Organizational Management. He has worked as patrol officer, detective, and patrol sergeant and at one point was a hostage negotiator. He is currently an Assistant Division Chief assigned to the Department of Investigations-Crimes Against Property Section.

In addition to the Justice Coalition board, Michael also serves as Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Northeast Florida Community Action Agency, and is a board Trustee for Families First. He is also a mentor for the Take Stock in Children's Program.

His hobbies include reading books by Tom Clancy and Ridley Pearson, as well as books on leadership. He says, "Serving on the Justice Coalition board allows me the opportunity to work with people who are committed to improving the criminal justice system and assisting the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office."
