

HATS OFF!

Good for you...

JSO Sgt. Gus Carlson receives 2003 County Traffic Officer of the Year award. Standing, l. to r., Larry "Chip" Monts, Coordinator of "You Drink and Drive, You Lose", Institute of Police Technology and Management Director Everett James, Sgt. Gus Carlson and Sheriff John Rutherford.

SERGEANT GUS CARLSON — Jacksonville Sheriff's Office, was selected as the First Place recipient of the County 2003 Officer of the Year award, presented February 2 by the Florida Department of Transportation Safety Office and the Institute of Police Technology and Management, University of North Florida.

Carlson, supervisor of JSO Zone Two traffic unit, has worked tirelessly to improve traffic safety in Duval County. His drive and determination have made JSO a leading agency for participation in traffic enforcement waves through Buckle Up Florida and You Drink and Drive, You Lose.

Sgt. Carlson has reached hundreds of thousands of Duval County residents through press releases, public appearances and information campaigns about traffic safety. He also coordinated and directed events resulting in 750 car seats being checked, as well as developing six JSO fitting stations that have handled approximately 2750 car seats.

Congratulations to Sgt. Carlson whose commitment to traffic safety, proper seatbelt use and stopping DUIs have made Jacksonville's roadways safer.
