Ask the Mayor

*by Mayor
John Peyton*

For 19 years, Jacksonville has designated a week in April to recognize crime victims and the rights they are granted under Florida laws. As mayor of this great city, I am happy to announce that Jacksonville will join our nation in observing April 10-16 as Victims Rights Week.

When a crime occurs, victims need to be aware that they have rights within our justice system and that services exist to help them cope. Jacksonville has the finest victims' service providers in our nation, but most citizens don't even know that they have rights if they become a victim of crime.

Join me and the Victims' Assistance Advisory Council at the 2005 annual Victims Rights Luncheon, on Thursday, April 14, Radisson Riverwalk Conference Center on Prudential Drive, to honor survivors of crime and those who assist them on a daily basis.

'Justice is not served until victims are.'
