Finders, keepers

Two elderly people were celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary. Married as childhood sweethearts, they had recently moved back to their old neighborhood and decided to visit their old school. Holding hands, they walked to the school, discovered it was unlocked and went in. They found the old desk they'd shared where Andy had carved, "I love you, Sally."

On their way home a bag of money fell out of a passing armored car, almost landing at their feet. Sally quickly picked it up and, not sure what to do with it, they took it home and counted the money: $50,000!

Andy said, "We've got to give it back."

Sally said, "Finders, keepers."

She put the money back in the bag and hid it in their attic. The next day, two FBI agents canvassing the neighborhood looking for the money knocked on the door.

"Pardon me, but did either of you find a bag that fell out of an armored car yesterday?"

Sally said, "No."

Andy said, "She's lying. She hid it in the attic."

Sally said, "Don't believe him; he's getting senile."

The agents turned to Andy and began to question him. "Tell us the story from the beginning."

Andy said, "Well, when Sally and I were walking home from school yesterday..."

The first FBI guy turns to his partner and says, "C'mon, we're outta here."

Lost purse

As the bus pulled away, I realized I had left my purse under the seat. Later I called the company and was relieved that the driver had found my bag. When I went to pick it up, several off-duty bus drivers surrounded me. One man handed me my pocketbook, two typewritten pages and a box containing the contents of my purse.

"We're required to inventory lost wallets and purses," he explained. "I think you'll find everything there."

As I started to put my belongings back into the pocketbook, the man continued, "I hope you don't mind if we watch. Even though we all tried, none of us could fit everything into your purse. And we'd like to see just how you do it."

Deluxe dishwasher

John went to visit his 90-year-old grandfather in a very secluded, rural area of Georgia. After spending a great evening chatting the night away, John's grandfather prepared breakfast of bacon, eggs and toast.

John, however, noticed a film-like substance on his plate and questioned his grandfather asking, "Are these plates clean?"

His grandfather replied, "They're as clean as cold water can get them. Just you go ahead and finish your meal, Sonny!"

For lunch the old man made hamburgers. Again, John was concerned about the plates as his appeared to have tiny specks around the edge that looked like dried egg and asked, "Are you sure these plates are clean?"

Without looking up the old man said, "I told you before, Sonny, those dishes are as clean as cold water can get them. Now don't you fret, I don't want to hear another word about it!"

Later that afternoon, John was on his way to a nearby town and as he was leaving, his grandfather's dog started to growl and wouldn't let him pass. John yelled, "Grandfather, your dog won't let me get to my car."

Without diverting his attention from the football game he was watching on TV, the old man shouted, "COLDWATER, GO LAY DOWN!!!!"
